RAMP

A Bridge to Assist People to Cross From One Life to Another

Morris Partners

At times, the holiday season may seem too commercial, or demanding, for experiencing real joy.

As a volunteer or donor to RAMP, you have much to celebrate, knowing that you have given a priceless gift to our refugee families, the gift of a future. And, the families supported and cared for by our exceptional volunteers and generous donors will be able to celebrate their new lives in a new year.

There are many wonderful RAMP success stories, including the family of five who came to Morris County from Afghanistan. Having made huge progress, professionally and personally, they are ready to leave the support of RAMP and continue an independent life, with their three girls now chatting in English, just like their American classmates. This could not have happened without your support.

Another family from Afghanistan, adjusting quickly to this new life, includes a father employed full-time, the mother with part-time work, and all studying to become proficient in their new language.

Striking examples of volunteerism and philanthropy at work, ensuring these individuals a safe, and productive, future.

Of course, there are more stories that are heart-warming, such as a developing entrepreneur, at fourteen years of age, proficient in English, soaring in her school studies, and competently developing a small business. A classic American success story made possible by RAMP tutors, RAMP's success at finding apartments, furniture, and future work possibilities, plus continued, generous contributions.

And, all it takes is a team of tireless volunteers and financial support from you.

We know that we all have been blessed in many ways, with family, friends and a comfortable life. Holiday gifts are fun to give and to get, but real pleasure, the joy of helping someone else, is not only a gift to these refugees, it is a gift to ourselves.

No one can predict the future, but we believe that the people RAMP will serve in the new year will be on a path to a future of safety and success. A contribution is an investment in a future, which will have many returns, for these individuals, for our communities and for ourselves.

Thank you to our donors, to our volunteers, to everyone who has been involved with RAMP. We are looking forward to a bright future as our small non-profit grows, increasing the number of individuals who will be served and guided on a path to a new future.

Thank you, and best wishes to all for a happy holiday and a healthy new year.
